

GameBird
Feeds

Wenger's Game Bird Feeding Programs offer the insight and innovation available in our commercial feed formulas with the attention to detail your species requires. We can offer you a formula that meets your unique needs from lower energy diets to formulas designed for attractive feather cover.

Specialty Feeds for Game Birds

Pheasants, Chukars, and Quail

Wenger's specialty feed programs are designed to give game bird producers the edge with formulas designed for healthy, strong flying birds with attractive feather cover. Our rations are formulated with digestible amino acid levels. Proper amino acid levels are crucial in game birds to prevent feather picking and maintain healthy plumage. In addition, all game bird rations contain higher protein levels to develop muscles without weight gain that could inhibit flight.

Wenger's game bird diets offer a balanced nutritional package with optimum ratios of vitamins and minerals. For breeding birds and growing game birds, Wenger's offers Hy-D, a more bioactive form of vitamin D with proven advantages over vitamin D₃.

For maximum efficiency, specialty rations are available for all species and every stage of development.
